OWSKI COMES WITH ORCHESTRA

merican Youth Orchestra to Play in Varsity Arena y 26th dynamite Leopold Stokowski to Toronto, with his latest creation, the All-American Orchestra, on Monday evening 26, this the only Canadian he will visit on his sensational tour. Back from a two week orchestral jaunt throughout America, where a personal ph of goodwill marked their engagement, the group of outstanding young musicians are now staying in Atlantic City for the rural concert of their North American tour, which has its send-off in the 15,000-ton auditorium tonight. Then follow concert in the Constellation Hall in Washington, Carnegie Hall in New York, Boston Garden in Boston, and huge Metropolitan Auditorium in the Toronto appearance. Because of this joint decision the part of the great conductor and Wilfred James, who, incidentally, have enjoyed a warm relationship over the years it was Mr. James who first induced the Philadelphia Orchestra, under Stokowski, include Toronto in its itinerant year ago, Varsity Arena was secured, where over 1,500 seats will be available at 75c, and over 3,300

Eminent Conductor

One of the most colorful and revolutionary conductors in the realm of 20th century music, the great, old Stokowski, will bring his sensational All-American Youth Orchestra for one performance at Varsity Arena on Monday evening, May 16. The famed ensemble of over a hundred talented musicians is being brought to Toronto by Wilfred C. James, managing director of Massey Hall, but Massey Hall was expected to be too small to seat the thousands of concert-goers, hence the Varsity Arena decision.

Samuel Slater, who provided plans for the machinery from his head, the two worked for more than a year. Patience and perseverance were the guiding principles which urged these men forward, and they met adversity with courage and faith. It is an intensely interesting story, well written and informative. Highly recommended by this reviewer. — M. A. A.

"YOU'RE ONLY YOUNG TWICE" by Doree Smiley. (The Mueson Book Company, Ltd.) Some very plain truths have been set down by Mrs. Smiley, who herself submitted to a going over by professionals toward a better look and appearance. She then went out and showed herself to thousands of women, and from this experience and consultation with experts has given a book which the average woman will find entertaining and informative. The author deals with the ticklish subject of diet by first stating clearly that to diet without medical advice is plainly stupid, but she does call attention to the woman who is fat because she eats for entertainment. Simple exercises are given in a simple definite schedule. In fact, the book moves along in an easy-to-understand style, with sketches of right and wrong dressing that any woman will pick out at a glance. It gives basic rules for selection of clothes and accessories, and puts aside one who sweep the usual cry of women, "If I only had more money, by saying that "No woman will ever have enough to spend on her clothes." She has excellent advice on neat grooming. She

"BLACK RECORD — GERMAN FAST AND PRESENT," by Sir Robert Vanillart. (Mueson Book Company.) This modest little brochure, 35 pages in extent—is a reproduction of Sir Robert Vanillart's broadcasts over the British Broadcasting Corporation on "The German people."

In order to fully appreciate this terrible indictment of the Germans it is important to note that the author is Chief Diplomatic Adviser to the British Government, but who describes himself as a working diplomat with his coat off. In other words, he has removed the "diplomatic garb" and calls a spade a spade and the Nazis bloodthirsty, ruthless gangsters.

But he does not merely speak with great frankness about the Germans, he fortifies his comment with a mass of historical facts which prove his case up to the hilt.

The case against the Germans is so bad that it is hardly creditable, and if the evidence was produced by any less reputable authority than Vanillart, one might possibly question some of the statements.

The pamphlet only costs ten cents, and it might well replace Beverley Nichols' "Cry Havoc" published a few years before the war and endorsed by the then Department of Education.

The author draws a clever analogy between the Germans and the shrieking able to read it without being stirred into awilder thought. "Then Shall the Dust Return" weaves the past ages into one long tapestry before your eyes, and points out the sameness of humanity and the fundamental problems we meet. Highly recommended. — E. L. W.

BENJAMIN BLAKE, by Edson Marshall. (Oxford University Press.) Here is a swashbuckling story of a social revolutionist. The 1750's of old England, when the lords were masters and all else were slaves, is vividly and strongly portrayed by Edson Marshall in his new book. Benjamin Blake, son of an English squire by a gunsmith's daughter; his rise and fall, and rise again, is the theme of the story. In the robust language of that age, Edson Marshall has Ben tell his own tale. From his boyhood in the sea-shore town, to his days of service in his step-uncle's house, to his escape and life aboard boats in the South Seas, the story goes at a fast pace. His return and triumph, and his meeting out of the just rewards will please those who like to see the wrong righted by a not too righteous hero. The frame and reason for the story is given by the age it represents. The age of awakening for the common people, the first days of democracy, Ben's championing of the world-wide eighteenth century revolt—that is the thread that runs through this historical, adventure story. This is a lusty, fast yarn, based on a solid research. It makes

Joe and Tina.

There is a curious and common attachment of the mind to phrases whose component parts mean almost nothing to the user, if employed in separation. How many of the thousands who talk of the Biblical "Joe and Tina" know what "a little" is, or would ask for a little of cheese, or the grocery? "Tina" happens to be "a small stroke or point in writing or printing." So it came to mean something tiny. But it is now almost dead except in the reviving company of "Joe." And how many of the Joe-and-Tina know that "Joe" is also a printing word, being a corruption of the Greek "iota," the smallest of the alphabet's letters? — Manchester Guardian.

"a love of beauty, truth and goodness."

The lithesome young graduates, in graceful, long white gowns and carrying bouquets, were grouped on the platform enchantingly. Lovely, too, in white and pastel shades were music club members behind the graduates. Very Rev. Dr. Stuart C. Parker, chairman, gave an inspiring message. Miss Florence A. Somers presented diplomas and awards. Miss Dorothy Buck read the valedictory. Unique was the ceremony of transfer of student government, by which Miss Dorothy Walker, a graduate, passed on to Miss Elizabeth Seccombe, representing the juniors, a bronze figure of Discolobus, the Greek discus thrower, and symbol of the self-government of the school, with the challenge to carry on.

The gold medal for highest standing was presented to Miss Margaret Davis; the Charlotte A. Kaulback silver medal to Miss Dorothy Walker; honors in theory, Miss Davis. Other graduates receiving diplomas were: The Misses Gertrude Elizabeth Anderson, Elizabeth Joyce Bertram, Elizabeth Ruth Cranston, Geraldine Cummings Dickson, Joan Coralie Fellowes, Aileen Elizabeth Hatt, Mima Diana Hawkins, Roberta Gladys Hill, Cynthia Audrey Jackson, Norine Montgomery Johnson, Barbara Seymour Jones, June Audrey Kennedy, Margaret Sinclair Large, B.A., Dorothy Alice Leggett, June Lorraine MacIntosh, Eleanor Louise Mackenzie, Sylvia Thurlow Macklin, Ruth Evelyn Milne, Joan Margaret Ottewell, Elise Darby Smyth, Mary Ellison Sovereign, Helen Margaret Staples, Bette Hannah Thomas, Ellnor Margaret Wallace, Blanche Evelyn Wellman, Margaret Ruth Woodsworth.

grandfathers. For them it was the first day of summer, and there was hardly a community anywhere that did not have its celebration. Those that were small combined with others, and a show, of which sports and firecrackers were the chief components, was put on. One reason it was such a great day was that occasions for mass merrymaking were few. There was a good deal more hard work, we suspect, and the break in it was more fervently hailed.

A Special Institution.

Then, too, the old Queen, who was indeed regarded as an old Queen even by the great-grandsires of the boys and girls of today, was a special institution. She was no mere figurehead, but was held to be the repository of all the goodness and all the power of the British Empire. Canada was too far away to hear the criticisms of her which were frequent enough in England, especially in the period of mourning for the Prince Consort. Such criticism would have fallen like blasphemy on their unsophisticated ears.

A Star Fell From the Skies.

Her long reign and the increasing power and prosperity of the Empire during the greater part of the nineteenth century helped make Queen Victoria a symbol of the timeless and irresistible. When she died at last it was as if a star had fallen from the heavens. Those were the days in which devotion to the Crown and British connection laid the foundations upon which Canada has been reared and which are now threatened as never before. But the spirit is the same. Forty years ago Housman apostrophized thus the men of his generation:

"Get you the sons your fathers got And God will save the Queen."

last year, all the social probof the neighborhood have not been solved by any means, declared Miss Marjorie Twitchell, head-worker at the East End Day Nursery annual meeting Friday.

A survey showed that of the ninety-eight families using the Nursery only one father was permanently unemployed. 66 per cent of the mothers are either day workers, averaging tow to three days a week, or employed in restaurants for a few hours per day, so that all work to supplement their husband's wages rather than to support the family.

The boys club with a membership of 110, uses the house on an average of three days a week for crafts and games. Fifteen families were provided Christmas dinners and the Alpha Delta Phi Sorority sent eight girls to camp and gave a Christmas party for the younger children.

Elected to the new executive are: Miss Marjorie Rogers, president; Mrs. W. G. Malcolm, treasurer; Mrs. G. M. West, recording secretary; Mrs. G. N. Hargraft, assistant treasurer; Mrs. A. C. Mc-presidents; Miss Mary Harris, corresponding secretary.

ALUMNAE AND STUDENTS IN WAR WORK GROUP

Alumnae and students of the Margaret Eaton School meet each Friday at the school to do war work and the association is affiliated with the Red Cross. At present the sewing group is working on underclothing for English children, requested by the Red Cross. The knitting group is making sweaters, socks, helmets and mitts for the Merchant Marine and Home Guard in England as result of a direct appeal from a Canadian nurse overseas who had seen the pitiful condition of these men.

Another activity of the association is recreational leadership for English war guests. The social and financial group is in charge of the bookkeeping and plans activities for raising money to buy wool and other necessary materials. A St. Patrick's Day party is being arranged.

Officers of the association are:
Chairman, Miss Frances White; conveners—Sewing, Mrs. Anne Thompson; knitting, Miss Helen Parsons and Miss Elva Miller; recreational, Mrs. R. Hooper; social and financial, Mrs. E. C.
Macdonald.

St. David's Society Party At Oak Room, Union Station

The St. David's Society has arranged for its annual St. David's Day celebration on Saturday,

Miss Leonl Schneider is entertaining at the Arts Club today in honor of Miss Dorothy Wardell and Mr. Lindsay Wardell, who are holding a joint exhibition in oils and water-color. Mrs. Gweneth Barrington, president, will assist in receiving.

Colonel and Mrs. E. S. Barrie of Kitchener are guests at the Westminster Hotel.

Mrs. William Herring of Cincinnati, Ohio, formerly of Toronto, is in town for two weeks, and is at the King Edward Hotel. Her son, Master William Herring, is attending Upper Canada College Preparatory School.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wallace gave a cocktail party last evening in honor of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Dorothy Wallace, to Mr. Kenneth Fiegehen, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W.
Fiegehen, St. Leonard's Crescent.
The guests went on afterward to the supper dance at the Royal York.

Mrs. F. S. Rose, the Kingsway, entertained the Phi Kappa Sigma auxiliary at tea. The hostess received in a pretty gown of powder blue crepe; and Mrs. Joseph R. Bull presided at the table, which was gay with red roses and red candles. Miss Jean Rose assisted in looking after the guests.

Victoria College Alumnae Association will hold its annual bridge on Tuesday evening at Wymilwood. War stamps will be the prizes, and the proceeds will be for the Alumnae war fund. Among those taking tables are Miss K.
Leekes, Mrs. W. S. Rae, Mrs. D.
A. Scott, Mrs. Howe Martyn, Mrs.
James Ford, Miss M. Westman, Mrs. H. E. Ford, Mrs. Warren
Lloyd, Miss B. Van Allen, Mrs.
R. L. Thompson, Mrs. C. D. Carruthers and Mrs. Karl Bernhardt.

Miss Mabel Goss, Miss Velma Orok and Miss Peggy Wickson are spending the week-end at Limberlost Lodge.

Mrs. Charles P. McTague and her two sons are spending the week-end in Ottawa with Mr. Justice McTague.

Dr. and Mrs. D. J. LeRoy have taken an apartment in the Manor Champlain, Sussex Street, Ottawa.
Mrs. LeRoy was formerly Miss Lillice Marie Read.

Mr. and Mrs. William Galloway of Windsor have come to Toronto to live.

Miss Leslie and Miss Joan Pidgeon are in town with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. P. T.
Carpenter, and will leave next week to join their parents, Pilot Officer and Mrs. A. L. Pidgeon, who have moved from London.

Mrs. A. B. Smith, Mrs. Henry Bulton, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Ada-

"CIRCLE -BAR" FOURTH COLUMN

By J. V. McAree

WE ONCE had a friend who was a very rich man. He had many qualities which we admired, and one prerogative which we envied. He didn't have to see anybody he didn't want to see. It was not necessary that he should ever see anybody at any particular time. So if he wished, and occasionally he did, he could go home and deny himself to all callers, even telephone callers. Not all rich men can do this. Most of them, in fact, have to be accessible to directors, to presidents of other companies, to representatives of the public in various capacities. No matter how rich and important the vice-president is, he has to be there when the president wants him.

Multimillionaire's Privilege.

Mr. Henry Ford illustrates another privilege of the very rich, another which is not common to all of them. He can say what he likes, no matter how foolish or offensive it may be. He has said things which are deeply wounding to British subjects and extremely annoying to most Americans. But he says the calmly, knowing that nobody can do anything effective by way of retort. If people refused to buy his cars he could remain indifferent. he never made another car, if his present factories were torn down and the land they stand on confiscated, Mr. Ford would still be one of the richest men in the United States.

Right of Poor Man, Too.

We do not know that to amass great fortune has been his prime object. It may have been to make a certain car at a certain price. But in the process he has achieved priceless possession. He can say what he thinks to be true with regard to what anybody else thinks.
It is a pity that being in this position what he does say is not better worth saying. It is also fortunate, too, that his ability to say what he likes is a right very generally

G. SOMERS WED TO EVA GENDRON

Penetanguishene Vows for Local Bridegroom

NIECE IS BRIDESMAID

In St. Anne's Church, Penetanguishene, Miss Eva Gendron was married to Mr. George Somers of Toronto. Rev. T. J. Lally, director of Martyr's Shrine, Midland, conducted the ceremony and said the Nuptial Mass.

The bride wore a gown of moonstone crepe, navy hat with veil and floral trimming, navy accessories and carriage of Rapunzel roses. Her maid, Miss Alice MacDonald, was bridesmaid, wearing a crepe gown of shades of taupe, navy accessories and Joanna Hill roses. Mr. Patrick Leonard, Toronto, was groomsmen. Father Castex, pastor, was in the sanctuary, and Mr. Philip Montgrain, organist and cousin of the bride, played the wedding music. Miss Gloria Trotter, another cousin, sang, accompanied by Mr. Wilfred Martin.

Breakfast was served at the home of the bride's father, where her sister, Miss Eunice Gendron, received the guests. Later Mr. and Mrs. Somers left for their home in Toronto. For traveling the bride wore an ensemble of blue; Miss Gendron had been on the staff of Martyr's Shrine for some time, and Mr. Somers is connected with Toronto Separate School Board.

Young Men's Ad-Sales Club Ready With Sugar and Spice To Give Party Proper Flavor

Wednesday Event at Hotel Savarin Aimed to Make Friends Happy

RECORD FOR HOSTS

Tomorrow evening the Young Men's Ad-Sales Club will stage an informal dance in the Windsor Room of the Hotel Savarin. Typical of the originality for which the club is known, is the note of invitation to which is attached an envelope with a grain of white powder and the question asked, "Is it salt or sugar?"

Quoting Webster the invitation states that the main use of salt is to bring out the flavor in food and that a guaranteed method to add flavor to your life is to attend the Y.M.A.S.C. dance as no effort is being spared to make it the club's best.

If the invitation adds, "it is sugar, you can bet your sweet life that all the members will be on hand with their charming wives or girl friends to dance to the rhythm of Monte Blue orchestra," so that, be it salt or sugar, "there will be a hot time in the old town Wednesday night." Tickets are in charge of Mr. Crawford Hall, Mr. R. Vandenhossche, Mr. R. Henderson and transportation being directed by Mr. Ted Whittingham.

Dean Elliott explained the Book of Revelations declaring it was not "other worldism," but the writer asking us to look at this world from the point of view of the other world. "It's looking down on the earth from the upper point of view." Revelation showed the tyrants and aggressors running for clefts and holes "to hide from He who is sitting on the throne."

Rev. Canon H. J. Cody, D.D., LL.D., president of the university, introduced Dean Elliott, tracing his background in England before he took charge of the diocese of British Columbia in 1938. Rev. J. H. Barnes, president of the Wyeliffe College Alumni Association, welcomed Dean Elliott and the alumni of the two colleges. Captain the Rev. E. F. Pinnington, president of the Trinity College Clerical Alumni Association, read the lesson. Benediction was pronounced by His Grace Archbishop D. T. Owen, Archbishop of Toronto and Primate of All Canada. An offering was taken to purchase New Testaments for the Canadian troops.

Solemn Requiem Mass Sung for Mrs. Lanphier

A Solemn Requiem High Mass was celebrated yesterday morning for Mrs. Peter Lanphier of Triller Avenue by her son, Rev. Charles Lanphier, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, Highland Creek. The service was held in Holy Family Church. Deacon of the Mass was Monsignor Patrick Coyle and the subdeacon was Rev. William Egan. Pallbearers at Mount Hope Cemetery were Matthew Madden, Thomas McDonough, Dr. Peter Healy, L. W. Dunne, Charles McEvoy and Patrick Lanphier.

Department Seeks Equipment

Vacancies or changes which might occur in the future. Cost of filling the twenty vacancies will total $7,768 for the last three months of 1941, and additional funds must be granted for this purpose since the Department's current appropriations are not sufficient to take care of such an expenditure. Chief Sinclair will report that some of the equipment should be replaced without delay. Fire alarm equipment and hose trucks included in the original 1941 estimates were deleted by the board but these, in the fire chief's opinion, were "necessary replacements" which had to be authorized if the public were to be given adequate protection.

Training it was hoped that war would be avoided and peace saved. Then in March, 1939, when Moravia and Bohemia were flagrantly violated, there was a change. The danger could no longer be averted. The people decided there could be no peace until this evil thing was destroyed. What then were the reasons for the remarkable spirit which manifested itself?

The people realized the word of Hitler was "a broken reed" and could not be relied on. Lies, deceit and trickery marked his dealings with British statesmen. Sir Norman said: "The British always believed 'a man's word was his bond.' Then they saw innocent people struck down. 'All over Europe peaceful people were struck down suddenly, their freedom taken, their rights abolished.' Thirdly, individual rights were of no account. Great communities, the Jewish communities, were treated with a barbarity which shocked mankind." "Life itself under such terms was not worth living," he declared.

Soldier Robs Delivery Boy Responding to Fake Order

Held up by a soldier while endeavoring to deliver a fake order at 519 Jarvis Street last night, John Weatherup, 12-year-old messenger boy for Tamblin's drug store at 402 Bloor Street East, was robbed of $2. The boy went up the side drive of the Jarvis Street house and was met by the soldier, who took the money from his pouch and then ordered him to return to the store.

War-Plant Blast Unavoidable, No Sabotage Found - Conant

The explosion in the Welland Chemical Works near Niagara Falls on Sept. 3, which caused the death of three men, was the unavoidable result of operations in the manufacture of high explosives, Attorney-General Conant announced yesterday. He added that no blame or responsibility attaches to any person or persons for the blast. He stated that, after communication with officials of the Dominion Government who advised him that the utmost secrecy must be maintained in connection with the operations of the plant, he had decided it was not in the public interest to hold an inquest. In addition to the investigation of the Provincial Police, Dr. Smittle Lawson, supervising coroner for Ontario, made a full and careful investigation and it was the result of the reports of the police and Dr.

Lawson that he arrived at the conclusion that the explosion was unavoidable. "Dr. Lawson was extended every assistance and co-operation by the officials of the plant and of the Dominion Government," Mr. Conant said, "and he has assured me that all the facts and circumstances were fully disclosed to him. Operations, such as are conducted in the plant, must always be attended with considerable hazard and I am confident that both in arrangement and construction of the plant and in the conduct of the operations the utmost practical care was taken. I am also entirely satisfied that there is no indication of sabotage. "While the explosion was most unfortunate and regrettable, I am of the opinion that it is one of the unavoidable results of our war effort."

Johnston, K.C., well-known corporation lawyer.

FELLOWSHIPS ARE OFFERED

With the merging of the Eaton School with the University of Toronto, opening of the autumn term, the Eaton Company is offering fellowships for women students. President H. J. Cody stated yesterday. And as the physical and health education has been approved for the training of physical directors for the Y.M.C.A. in Canada, a number of fellowships granted by the 'Y' will be available to men students who aim to become physical directors. Dr. Cody announced also.

Registration for the physical education course, which started last year, will be closed Sept. 20 and must be completed before Tuesday, Sept. 23. On the physical education course, two major promotions and three major appointments have been made by the Board of Governors. President Cody, as that director of physical education for men, Warren Stevens, has appointed assistant professor of physical education, and that M. Forster, who has been a director of physical education for women at the university for years, has also been made a professor. M. G. Griffiths, for the years in charge of the physical education program at St. Andrew's College, has been named assistant professor and assistant professor of physical education. Miss Florence A. Somers and Dorothy N. R. Jackson have been appointed assistant professors of physical education. Miss E. ## GALLANT 'VICTIM' RESCUES 3 NAZIS

London, June 20 — (CP) — Three German airmen owe their lives to the gallantry of the second officer of a British merchant ship they tried to bomb. When their aircraft was shot into the sea the Germans climbed aboard a raft. In a heavy swell the captain of the ship manoeuvred alongside and ropes were thrown down, but the men were too badly wounded to help themselves. So the second officer, at the risk of being crashed against the ship, climbed down a ladder and roped the Nazis together.
Then they were hoisted aboard.

EATON SCHOOL TO BE PART OF UNIVERSITY

Merging With Department of Physical and Health Education

The Margaret Eaton school, for years Toronto's outstanding centre of physical and health education for women, is to be merged with the University of Toronto, according to an announcement by President H.
J. Cody. The school will become part of the university's department of physical and health education, established in 1940.

The Margaret Eaton school was named after the late Mrs. Timothy Eaton, and was established in 1906, being known as the Margaret Eaton School of Literature and Expression, the name being changed in 1926.

Courses of study have kept pace with changing customs and social conditions. Many leading physical directors and instructresses have been turned out.

Several members of the school staff, including Mrs. Florence Somers, director since 1934, have been appointed to university positions. The present facilities at Yonge St. and McGill St. will be a welcome addition to the physical and health education department, according to university officials.

They include a fine gymnasium, swimming pool, dancing studio and lecture and social rooms. Students now at the school, it was announced, will complete their courses in conjunction with the university, and will receive their Margaret Eaton school diploma.

Knox College Chapel Wedding Unites Ruth E. Ferguson and Gordon Rowan Pye on Saturday

Dr. J. B. Paulin officiated on Saturday in Knox College Chapel, when Ruth Elizabeth, daughter of Mrs. Ferguson and the late Hugh Ferguson, was married to Mr. Gordon Rowan Pye, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Pye. Mr. E. J. Fisher was at the organ, and shaded yellow and apricot snapdragons formed the background for the bridal party.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. L. Ross Ferguson, wore a gown of gardenia white crepe, classic in style, the only trimming a touch of silk braiding applied on the basque bodice at the lowered waistline, from where full side panels fell gracefully. Her long veil of tulle illusion was caught with orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of white swansonella and miniature calla lilies. She was attended by Miss Beulah Irwin and Mrs. E. Blair Stevenson, in frocks of turquoise chiffon. Their halos were of shirred chiffon, and they carried Token roses and yellow marguerites. Mr. Jack Pye, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsmen, and the ushers were: Mr. H. Blair Stevenson, and Mr. E. Grant Ferguson.

The reception was held at the Alexandra Palace. Mrs. Ferguson received her guests wearing a graceful gown of shadow blue roses. Mrs. Pye chose a gown of British blue, with white applique on the jacket, navy hat, and corsage of scarlet carnation petals, and bouvardia. For travelling the bride wore a sheer wool ensemble of patio green, brown hat and accessories, stone margerites and corsage of Fantasy tulips. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Pye will live in Toronto.
